

Prompt - Tone Variations for Emails

I want to send a cold email to a business owner and content creator. Please rewrite my email in four different tones so I can choose the best one.

Here is my email:

[Paste your email here]

Please create these four versions:

1. Professional and formal
2. Friendly but professional
3. Direct and concise
4. Warm and empathetic

For each version:

- Rewrite the full email in that tone
- Briefly explain when this tone is most effective and why it works

Keep everything clear, crisp, and easy to compare.

Prompt: Analyze the email as a receiver

Now I want you to roleplay as the receiver and critique it from your point of view as this specific persona:

1. What part of this message, if anything, genuinely caught your attention or made you want to keep reading?
2. Which parts felt generic, out of touch, or not aligned with how you approach your work or decisions?
3. Did anything make you pause, feel cautious, or reduce your trust in the sender? If so, why?
4. What could have made this message feel more relevant, valuable, or respectful of your time and priorities?
